

Cook Lake Property

This property is located 15 kilometres west of Snow Lake, Man., and consists of two separate non-contiguous claims.

Cook Lake Highlights

- Cook Lake property

This claim is located two kilometres west of the large new Lalor deposit presently being developed by Hudson Bay. It is thought that this claim may contain the down-plunge extension of the Pen 2 zone (owned by Hudbay Minerals) which hosts approximately 665,000 tonnes of 8.3 per cent zinc only 200 metres to the southwest of the Cook Lake property.

- Irene claim

This claim is located just a few hundred metres north of Copper Reef's 100-per-cent wholly owned Woosey Lake property, where Copper Reef is planning to drill two new VTEM anomalies this winter. The mineralization on the Irene claims appears to be separate anomalies from the targets on the Woosey claims. The Irene claims contain two poorly defined areas of mineralization.

- Irene Lake zone

The best intersection was 4.58 per cent copper, 3.82 per cent zinc, 38.8 grams per tonne silver and 1.5 grams per tonne gold over 0.5 metre.

- SCC zone

This zone contained a 5.1-metre-thick unit of low-grade (1 per cent) copper and zinc massive sulphide.
